Dear CARtoons . . . I've been a reader for longer than I can remember and have always liked the mag a lot. For a while 78-79 it got a little rushed and padded looking. Most of the stories were just not funny and some of the art was not up to what I had learned to like in the past. It felt that the way it was going CARtoons was becoming just a dumb comic for little kids and didn't feel that it would be around much longer. Hey!, but as of late it looks as if you people got a second wind. The covers are just fantastic and the stories are really improving along with the art. Being a big Fan of Dennis Ellefson it's good to see he's back in the book. (I always loved his stuff in the old days . . . SUFR-toons and CARtoons and Hot Rod CARtoons). Hope he will continue to be seen. In my opinion, Steve Austin is getting very good, his cars are super, they look like they are moving even when they are standing still. Shawn Kerri was kind of crude at first, but WOW! lately she's really looking good. Her cover on the Van Nuys thing was sock-o. Glad also to see that Pete Millar is getting back into the mag. He's one of the Big Daddies of the car cartoon field. Anyway, I didn't mean to ramble on or get too heavy on the critic but just thought you'd like to know. Keep it up guys!!

NEW NEWS!

Not long ago a fellow with the different name of Charles Paw print came by to see us. He had a group of drawings of cars that we thought were pretty nifty. We felt that perhaps you the reader might enjoy looking at them. So, as of this issue we'll run a drawing each time. We'll call it . . . naturally

Donald Thorpe,
Tucson Ar.

Hey Don, right on. Things got a tad loose during those times and you are right. But now we are punching all the time and hope future issues will please you as much as current ones have. MS Kerri and Millar, Austin, Ellefson all say "THANKS MAN!" for the straight ahead talk.

A quick note to say that CARtoons is looking better and better with each issue. I really dug the inside back cover with the dragster crash. It was very get married) and will be hanging' in at CARtoons as much as possible. Thanks.

I love Erica!!!can I have her home phone?
A Reader

Dear Reader... The answer to that question is... "Do chickens wear shoes?"

much like a slow motion thing we see in movies. Keep up the great work.

Mark
Walla Walla, Wash.

I love your mag and really like the covers by Rogerio. He is very imagitive and draws really fine cars. Will he be doing a lot of things in the future for CARtoons? Keep up the great work.

Julie Benson,
Helena Montana.

Rogerio has gone to Brazil and we had planned to have him work for us through the mails, however the other day we found out tht he is on his way back (to

Dear CARtoons... I loved your March/April issue but one thing really made me crazy. That story by Rogerio called "Track Record" It was so jumbled up and confusing that I could hardly follow it. I hope you'll print more sport car stuff in future issues, but please, keep the drawings so that I CAN FOLLOW IT.

Don Avalone,
Santa Barbara, CA

Thanks Mark. Yeah, ol'Den-Den gets into that stuff quite well. We plan on having him do more things along that same line. In fact we plan on having him do a LITTLE more around here (Are you listening, Den ol'boy?)

Being a reader of Hot Rod for many years (as well as CARtoons, I loved your Hot Dog Mag. That girl is really a fox... Who is she?

C. White,
Denton Texas

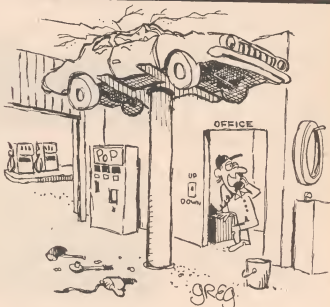

Wouldn't you like to know...

Dear Irving,

Yes, I am listening! I don't need a twit like you to remind me of my responsibilities. I get a lot of fun out of drawing in the book and I think your handling of "It's your 15c" is real weak, Man!

Best for now,
Dennis Ellefson,
Los Angeles, CA

Greg Evans

"Miss Dexter, I have good news and bad news... First the good news, your transmission is perfectly alright."

Yeah Don... When Rogerio brought it in we said "Huh?" but felt that it was "busy" enough to keep everyone looking for a long while. We'll cool out in the future.

I decided to write and say thanks for making CARTOONS possible. Reading it has helped me improve my drawing skill. I'd like to see more articles like the one called History Of The Hemi. I would also like to see more Harley-Davidsons and less rice grinders. What ever happened to Hogg Rider?

David Wood
Jax, Florida

—It's Ryder! let's hear from people about bringing the hogg back!

Krass & Bernie is usually one of the best features in your magazine, but I have to say that Trosley really let me down in the latest issue—March/April '81. The story wasn't funny. In fact, it showed a complete lack of knowledge and appreciation of classic muscle cars. There hasn't ever been a car produced that could match the AC Cobra—Trosley calls it a "Ford Cobra", which is wrong—and a joke about destroying one, the way Krass and Bernie did, just shows that Trosley's really out of touch with cars. I guess everybody has to make a living somehow, but I feel like I've been suckered by a slick con-man who's been trying to make us all think he was a car lover, too. I think he just showed his true colors and I don't think I will enjoy Krass & Bernie as much now.

Mark Hammerfeld
Roy, Utah

—Aha! George! you're not chic enough— better get out an be a hustler!!

The story on page 48 of your Jan/Feb '81 issue, Identity Crisis, was pretty good until "Ed and Sweetflower went on some holy pilgrimage to South America"! First of all, I'd like to point out that I'm a Pachuco. A Cholo. Yes, I khaki down all the time, but I have yet to see a Chicano dress the way Shawn Kerri dressed Chico. And also, what was he doing, trying out "experiments" with a lowrider? We don't do things like that. Now, you may think I have a distorted view point, but I'm only correcting what you people did in your magazine... Why don't you do something about Whittier Boulevard, for a change?

Daniel S. Torres
Pachuco and Lowrider
San Jose, California

—Who says we're culturally deprived, bato!

What is hot rodding all about? It is about making your 'Vette, Jeep, Monza, Cuda, or Charger (yes, they do make other cars than Camaros) go as fast as it has to to beat the other guy. Hot rodding is a recreation and an enjoyment. I'm sick and tired of hearing people belly-aching about the passing of the V8, and saying that soon everybody will be dragging in four cylinder, twenty-second quarter mile mini mites. The economy car has a place and a job in this society, and it does that job well. That does not mean we all must give up our muscle cars for Toyotas and Citations. So far, the V8 is the best power-plant for the average guy, so until they can't be found, I'll be driving one!

Fred Sullivan
Warwick, Rhode Island
P.S. Long live the 454, 427, 396, etc.

—You wanna know what makes me mad? You probably don't, but I'm gonna tell you anyway, 'cause it's my column! A lot of people don't understand that the V8 engine is not the culprit when it comes to poor gas mileage. The weight of a vehicle, the type of suspension it has, and even the type of brakes it has have a big influence on whether it guzzles at the pump or sips daintily! Disk brakes on a car can add upwards of 200 pounds to the overall weight, for example, and the car's engine has to pull that extra weight around along with you, your dog, and the anvil you carry around in your trunk! Weight-to-power ratio is where it's at when you're talking mileage. I can buy the stingiest four-cylinder engine that Mitsubishi makes, but if I drop it into a Chrysler Imperial, which weighs about 4,000 pounds, I'm going to get the lousiest gas mileage in the world! The more work an engine has to do, the more fuel it will consume. That's a fact of life that most people have forgotten and it's a darn shame that the V8 has gotten trampled in their panic to get to the pump!

I'm getting sick and tired of people writing about their Fords and Chevys and how good they perform. Well, I'm challenging all of them. My BMW 3.0 si will do over 130 miles per hour on the German autobahns. My fuel-injected six-cylinder will put out 200 horsepower and it's all stock! With all that power and speed, I still get over 20 miles to the gallon. I'm also tired of hearing the U.S. government cry about imports taking over the car market. When Detroit starts making cars as good as mine, maybe people will start buying American again. I really enjoy your mag. Keep up the good work! Auf Wiedersehen!

Steve Eck

A Mercedes in Santa Paula, Germany!

I would like to know how to submit cartoons to CARTOONS! If I send in a drawing, can it be in pencil, or do you want charcoal, marker, or ink? What size does it have to be? I'm sure many people want to know about that... I really like to read your magazine. I love the drawings and the stories. I also think you should have subscriptions. I can't find CARTOONS within 30 or 40 miles, and sometimes it's out of stock.

Scott Wothe
Wayzata, Minnesota

—The esteemed editor of this mag, Dennis Ellefson, laid it all out for me. He says that pencil drawings don't reproduce well, so it's better not to submit those. Good, black ink and/or magic markers on white paper look the best for repro. Drawings should be the same size as you see in the magazine, or roughly twice the size!

I now own a '72 Chevy Vega. I was looking to buy a new car until I found out how high the interest rates were. The new cars are also ugly, priced too high and made so that the payments will last longer than they will. So, I fixed up my Vega. But now I'm moving overseas and I won't be back until '85. I hope the cars look better then!

Jeff Lindberg
California

—Are you sure you're not being deported for owning a Vega? I certainly wouldn't go around admitting that publicly!

I wish you would bring back The Old Mechanic. I really thought The Judge was great. You have the best artists I've ever seen—especially Dave Deal. The History Of Hot Rodding was really neat! You have the best mag in the world.

Dave LeGare
Ottawa, Illinois

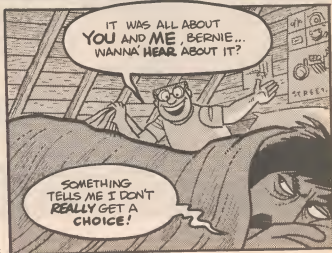

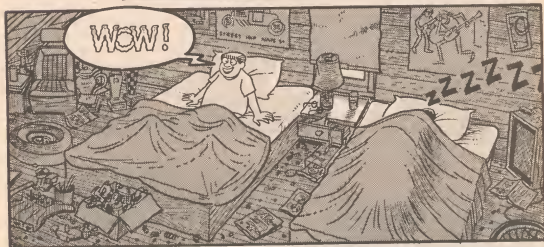

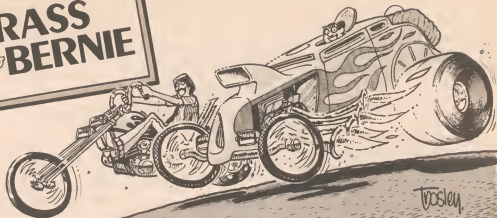

—I was sorry to see The Old Mechanic go, too. It got the axe because some people thought the humor in it was too subtle.

*Hokay, that's it for this time group. We are getting a lot of mail and it is improving as we had hoped. We do like hearing from you with opinions, gripes, praise (yeh, yeh) or whatever is on your mind. We like to feel that CARTOONS is your mag and we want it to be what you want. Don't be afraid to let us know.*

C.G. BUTCHER TALKS TECH TYPE STUFF

With that ol' know-it-all about cars, The Elephant man of automotives . . . C. (Wrench Head) Butcher.

I've heard that there is a proper rotating sequence for tires. Can you tell me what it is?

George Clarkwad
Firebug, Ontario

Yes, George, there is a proper sequence for tire rotation. You take the left front tire and put it on the right rear. Then you take the right rear and put it in the trunk. The spare tire should then be put on the right front which means that the right front tire will be going onto the left front. That means, of course, that you have to take the left front off—the tire that used to be the right rear before it became the spare the last time around. Then you take the left rear tire off your mother's car and put it on the right rear, putting your right rear tire onto her car—that's the tire that used to be on the left front, remember. Now, if your mother's left rear tire was her spare the last time around, you're going to have to switch your right rear tire with her right front. Got that?

I'm driving a 1969 Mustang Fastback with very low original mileage. Everything about the car is super except for the smell I get when I turn the heater on. It's a musty odor and it's giving me a headache. If I can't find it soon, I may have to sell the car. Can you tell me what my problem might be?

There are about three probable causes for this situation. Most often, it's water somewhere in the vent system. If water gets in there and can't drain out properly, it will become stagnant. Another possibility is that your heater core may be going bad. I always have a tendency to expect the worst so don't be surprised if it turns out that the odor problem is being caused by one dead squirrel in your engine.

I have a 1970 Mustang Mach I with a 351 Cleveland powerplant in it. After running at operating temperature and then being stopped, the car won't start again for an hour or so. It acts like the battery is dead. Also, if allowed to idle for more than five minutes, the engine overheats, with or without a thermostat. What should I do?

Marvin Parks
Park's Peak, Wisconsin

Buy a Chevy. By the way, does Cleveland know you've got one of their powerplants? Heh heh heh . . . just a joke. Get it—Cleveland . . . powerplants . . . forget it! I don't get paid extra for humor and besides, you guys wouldn't recognize a good joke if it ran over you with a set of Pirelli P7's!

Hey, C.B.! I've heard that years of grease, dirt and road sludge can sometimes be the only thing that is holding an old engine together and that if you clean it off, the engine will develop oil leaks. Is that true?

Goodfoot, Vermont

Who would lie to you, Marvin? I will even go so far as to say that an old engine should be given mud packs on a regular basis to keep it sealed and healthy. Mix some good dirt—a high clay content is prefera ble—with 50-weight oil and spread it over your engine liberally. Be careful not to get any inside the carb, however. I prefer to use 50-weight oil because 30-weight takes too long to set. Don't use a variable weight oil like 10W-40, for example, as you'll find the mixture will have a tendency to drip off onto your garage or carport floor in warm weather. While you're at it, put some of the mud-oil mixture on your face, too. It can be very uplifting.

I have a 1972 Capri with a steering problem. When I go over thirty miles per hour and step on the brakes, the front end shakes uncontrollably. I've installed Koni struts, extra torsion bars and a hydraulic stabilizer. I also had the wheels aligned and statically and dynamically balanced. The problem still exists. Do you have any suggestions?

Peter Wapchis
Laconic Beach, California

Get rid of the fat blonde in the passenger seat and all your problems will disappear. Believe me!

I have a 1965 Marlin and I would like to blueprint the engine. Do you think it would be worth it? also, I would like to know a few production figures on the Marlin.

Mark Miwell
Farquard, Nova Scotia

MARLIN? . . . LIKE MARLIN BRANDO?

Can you tell me if there's a difference in the gasoline that's sold at the major oil company stations and the independent stations? I think cheap gas is the reason that when I floor the gas pedal, the car will hesitate and then leap forward instead of accelerating smoothly. My dad says it's all the same gas but that there's a Communist plot to infiltrate all street machines. Is that true?

Roger Smith
New Bogengrad, Montana

I think your father is overreacting, Comrade!

HOW TO DRAW:

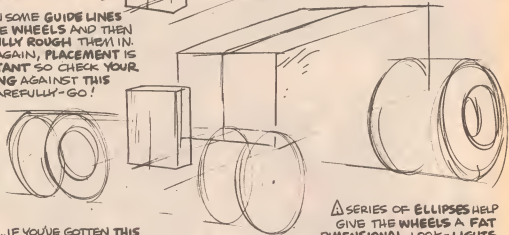

the DUECE

THIS TIME, WE'RE GONNA TAKE IT REAL SLOW AND EASY WITH THE DUECE FROM THE LATEST KRASS AND BERNIE EPISODE. LET'S START WITH A BOX FOR THE BODY AND ONE FOR THE GRILL. USE GUIDE LINES AND CHECK THIS DRAWING CAREFULLY... THIS IS A SIMPLE BUT IMPORTANT STEP!

TRY TO THINK OF THEM AS TWO BLOCKS OF WOOD.

LAY IN SOME GUIDE LINES FOR THE WHEELS AND THEN CAREFULLY ROUGH THEM IN. ONCE AGAIN, PLACEMENT IS IMPORTANT SO CHECK YOUR DRAWING AGAINST THIS ONE CAREFULLY-GO!

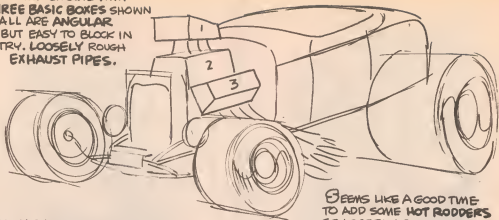

A SERIES OF ELLIPSES HELP
GIVE THE WHEELS A FAT
DIMENSIONAL LOOK- LIGHTS
AND DARKS COME LATER.

OKAY...IF YOU'VE GOTTEN THIS FAR YOU'VE GOT YOURSELF A GOOD START. NOW WE TIGHTEN IT ALL UP A BIT AND START CARVING OUT THE BODY AND FRAME UP FRONT. NOTE THE BODY LINE ON THE SIDE OF THE DUECE-IT'S AN IMPORTANT CHARACTERISTIC OF THE '32 FORD.

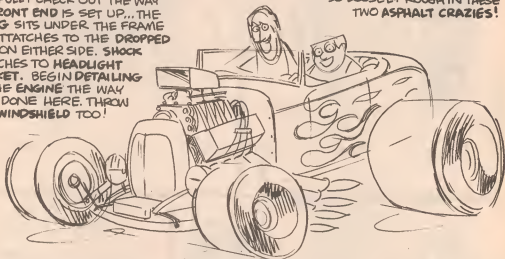

BLOCK IN THE ENGINE WITH THE THREE BASIC BOXES SHOWN HERE. ALL ARE ANGULAR BOXES BUT EASY TO BLOCK IN IF YA TRY. LOOSELY ROUGH IN THE EXHAUST PIPES.

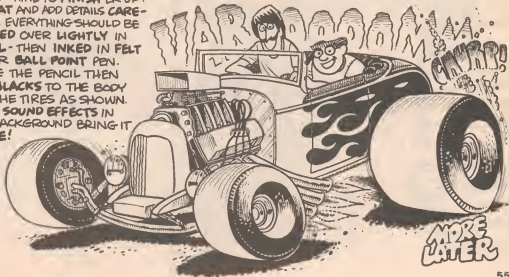

SEEMS LIKE A GOOD TIME TO ADD SOME HOT RODDERS SO LOOSELY ROUGH IN THESE TWO ASPHALT CRAZIES!

CAREFULLY CHECK OUT THE WAY THE FRONT END IS SET UP... THE SPRING SITS UNDER THE FRAME AND ATTACHES TO THE DROPPED AXLE ON EITHER SIDE. SHOCK ATTACHES TO HEADLIGHT BRACKET. BEGIN DETAILING OUT THE ENGINE THE WAY WE'VE DONE HERE. THROW ON A WINDSHIELD TOO!

OKAY - TIME TO FINISH 'ER UP! BE NEAT AND ADD DETAILS CAREFULLY. EVERYTHING SHOULD BE CHECKED OVER LIGHTLY IN PENCIL - THEN INKED IN FELT TIP OR BALL POINT PEN. ERASE THE PENCIL THEN ADD BLACKS TO THE BODY AND THE TIRES AS SHOWN. A FEW SOUND EFFECTS IN THE BACKGROUND BRING IT TO LIFE!

Tricky TICKET TACTICS

Giant inflatable fuzz figure, when placed near auto gives the appearance of ticket being given, thus allowing unlimited parking.

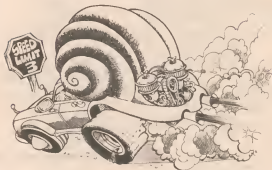

By
HAL ROBINSON

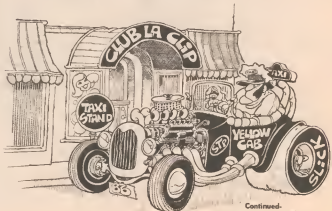

This radar device has proven effective in locating and avoiding speed traps. Also bulky equipment slows down vehicle to the point where it cannot exceed speed limit.

Unusual body (spun zinc) gives this weirdo vehicle the appearance of traveling at slow speeds, thus avoiding costly speeding tickets.

Inexpensive decals will disguise your car as a taxi, allowing you to park in otherwise prohibited zones. Cab driver uniform also helps.

Continued.

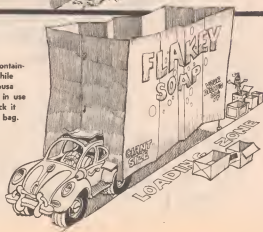

This sneaky, simple, yet smart device paints curb covering "No Parking" sign.

Tricky TICKET TACTICS

This poorly designed double-ender eliminates tickets for wrong way driving, and in many cases eliminates the driver as well.

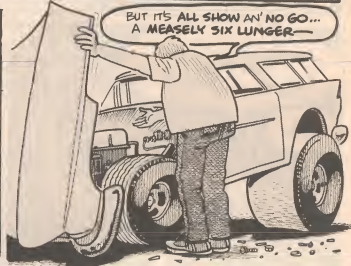

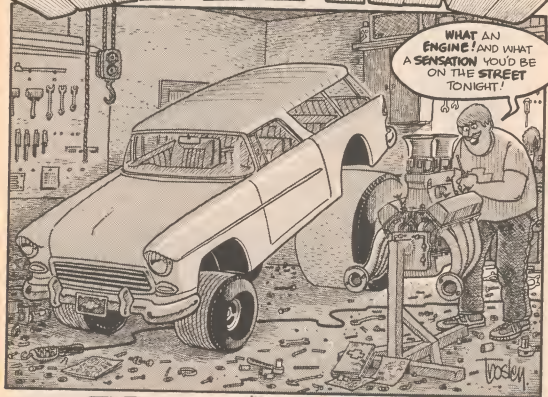

Huge cardboard container can be used while parking in warehouse district. When not in use fold it up and pack it in trunk. It's your bag.

This install-it-yourself mater prop gives the sure-fire illusion of being parked while speeding.
